

Scott Accepts New State Conservation Technician Position

TinaRae (TR) Scott, spouse of lifelong Morris County resident Lancer Scott, recently accepted the position of State Conservation Technician serving Morris, Lyon, and Chase Counties. She will be servicing the counties several days a week assisting the NRCS and Conservation District offices.

Having grown up around her family farming and ranching operations, Scott wanted to continue her career in the field sharing her love of the practices. Scott received her degree in Agriculture from Oklahoma Panhandle State University in 1993 and worked in corporate Agriculture through 1998. Moving back to the Lyon County area at that time, to be closer to her family and assist with an ill family member, she has worked for various entities, including the family businesses.

Scott has a four year old daughter, LaiCee, who attends daycare part-time and a nine-year old daughter, RaeLyn, who attends USD 417. Scott is very active in the Council Grove community, volunteering and participating in local activities.

As a people person, Scott enjoys visiting with producers, landowners and operators. She will be learning practices, applications, and techniques to share within the region. Feel free to visit with Scott about your needs and she will assist you in determining what is best for your land.
